Counseling and Therapy in Video: Volume 2

The award-winning Counseling and Therapy in Video is a multi-volume online series that provides training videos, reenactments, and footage of actual therapy sessions. These recorded counseling sessions, conducted by renowned practitioners worldwide, provide an unparalleled opportunity to view expert therapists at work and learn intricacies of behavior, tone, facial expression, and body language that define successful counseling experiences.

Counseling and Therapy in Video Volume II contains 300 hours of video placing special emphasis on contemporary topics such as neuroscience, coaching, family therapy, child therapy, geriatric therapy, play therapy, weight control and eating disorders, post-traumatic stress disorder, sex therapy, and culturally sensitive therapy. It also features world-renowned therapists demonstrating their methods and techniques, state of the art as of 2005 or later. The collection also includes documentaries providing insight into the human condition and training such as reflection and empathy. The second volume features world-renowned therapists such as Albert Ellis, Allen Ivey, John Norcross, Arnold Lazarus, Otto Kernberg, Violet Oaklander, and many others, demonstrating their methods in true-to-life situations. With more than 70 percent of the films created since 2005, the collection stays apace with the evolving practices and theories of the counseling field.

Highlight areas include:

CBT for Depression	Coaching and Counseling
Narrative Mediation with Couples	Counseling Gay and Lesbian People of Color
Counseling Immigrants	Teen Anxiety Disorder
Collaborative Helping: A Practice Framework for Family-centered Services	Evidence-based Treatment Planning for Social Anxiety

TITLES IN FOCUS:

- ▶ “Australian Aboriginal “Sorry Business” and Culturally Appropriate Counseling” written by Robina Otrupcek, presented by Robina Otrupcek (Auckland, Auckland Region: Australian Counselling Association, 2010)

The grief suffered across the generations by Indigenous Australians over the last 200 years is often the source of the current discontent that has led to many mental health issues. The intention of this presentation is to look at important aspects of Aboriginal cultures to enable useful assistance in this grief. An attempt to understand and accept these differences and generate the respect that will improve the success rate in therapeutic approaches.

- ▶ “Therapeutic Journeys, Exploring Roadblocks and Effective Counselling. Series Two: Basic Counselling Skills” in Therapeutic Journeys (Western Australia: Sushi Productions, 2002)

This film features two vignettes of an initial assessment with a reluctant client who has alcohol related problems. The first vignette demonstrates roadblocks. The second vignette demonstrates effective counselling skills. A Clinical Psychologist/Senior Lecturer in Psychology, Sandy Williams, conducts the interviews sessions. The video is an excellent training resource for generalist and specialist drug workers who encounter resistant clients with drug related problems in the course of their work.
