Music Video Collection

Video as a learning tool provides a rich experience for music students.

Music Video Collection allows users to experience music with a window into more than 2,000 performances, masterclasses, documentaries, and interviews from music publishers and performing houses like C Major Entertainment, EuroArts, Opus Arte, Arthaus Musik, CLC Productions, and the BBC, among others.

THIS GROWING COLLECTION INCLUDES:

- 1,680+ video performances, including 200 full operas and 75 dance titles
- 60+ masterclasses, including content from the award-winning Masterclass Media Foundation such as the Joan Rodgers: Opera Arias – Singing Masterclass and the Emanuel Ax: Beethoven – Piano Masterclass
- 400+ full-length documentaries and interviews

HOW WILL YOU USE IT?

Watch synchronized, searchable transcripts running alongside many titles.

Videos of legendary performers are together, cross searchable and available for side-by-side comparison. Multiple productions of many works allow for comparative analysis, showing various interpretations of staging and set design.

Interviews with singers, stage designers, and directors, integrated with excerpts of live performances, show the development of each production.

Supplementing classical music, 250+ titles explore a variety of musical styles from around the world including jazz, rock, latin, hip hop, and more.

CLASSROOM AND LEARNING APPLICATIONS

Music Video Collection allows comparative viewing of multiple performances and performance types. First, watch a masterclass of Sir András Schiff working with a student on J.S. Bach's Second Partita for Keyboard. Then compare it to his own technique in a performance of J.S. Bach's French Suite No. 2.
