

Women and Social Movements: Development and the Global South, 1919–2019

Edited by Jill Jensen, University of Redlands

Development and the Global South, 1919–2019 looks at women's global economic participation and activism over an entire century. This addition to the Women and Social Movements Library sets out to reveal and assess a realm of individual efforts, organizational initiatives and socio-cultural projects led by or for women in the global south. Within this framework, the project contextualizes gender, opportunity, and struggle. It includes previously undigitized primary sources, hard-to-find materials, curated selection of government documents, and contextual essays. This collection supports students and faculty across a variety of disciplines — history, political science, women's studies, economics, human rights and more.

Edited by a Scholar

Jill Jensen, University of Redlands with the support of an international advisory board, including:

- Eloisa Betti, University of Bologna
- Eileen Boris, University of California, Santa Barbara
- Babacar Fall, Cheikh Arita Diop University of Dakar
- Devaki Jain, Development Alternatives for Women for a new Era (DAWN) and Delhi University
- Rebecca Plant, University of California, San Diego
- Kathryn Kish Sklar, Professor Emerita, State University of New York at Binghamton
- Judy Tzu-Chun Wu, University of California, Irvine

    about.proquest.com

To talk to the sales department, contact us at 1-800-779-0137 or sales@proquest.com.

ProQuest
Part of Clarivate

Why Women and Social Movements: Development and the Global South, 1919–2019?

- Shows how women have negotiated power and status in regard to private or public programs centered on human rights and social inclusion
- Highlights the historical problem of women's invisibility within mainstream development programs, foreign aid regimes, and approaches to technical assistance
- Provides primary source documentation as evidence of how women and their allies have worked towards balancing economic development and social improvement while navigating equity issues and the fairer allocation of resources
- Provides essential primary sources including pamphlets and other ephemeral documents from locations around the world that bring new perspectives and research opportunities
- Ancillary materials – contextual essays, timeline, and bibliographies – define parameters of this new area of research in history: the essays outline significant shifts in approaches to development through critique, including gendered “post-development.”

Content Highlights:

- The Papers of Caroline Farrar Ware, includes materials relating to women's issues, community development, Latin America, Puerto Rico, Mexico, InterAmerican Commission of Women, and Overseas Education Fund of the League of Women Voters.
- A Development Framework for Women Socioeconomic Projects, (Quezon City, Philippines) a Socio-Economic Program on Women and Technology, Metro Manila Consultation, 1988
- Ethiopian Women Entrepreneurs: Standing with Confidence, International Labour Organization, 2002
- A Miracle Day, documentary by Deborah Harse

This collection is a part of the Women and Social Movement Library, which also includes:

- Women and Social Movements in the United States, 1600–2000: Edited by Thomas Dublin and Kathryn Kish Sklar (1997–2019), Judy Tzu-Chun Wu and Rebecca Jo Plant (2019–2023)
- Women and Social Movements, International, 1840–present: Edited by Kathryn Kish Sklar and Thomas Dublin
- Women and Social Movements in Modern Empires since 1820: Edited by Kathryn Kish Sklar and Thomas Dublin

RELATED PRODUCTS

- ProQuest History Vault
 - Margaret Sanger Papers
 - Struggle for Women's Rights, 1880–1990: Organizational Records
 - Women's Studies Manuscript Collections from the Schlesinger Library: Voting Rights, National Politics and Reproductive Rights
 - Women at Work During World War II: Rosie the Riveter and the Women's Army Corps
- North American Women's Letters & Diaries
- British and Irish Women's Letters & Diaries
- The Gerritsen Collection of Aletta H. Jacobs
- Women's Magazine Archive

about.proquest.com

To talk to the sales department, contact us at 1-800-779-0137 or sales@proquest.com.